Dedication

We dedicate this book to the winning spirit which seemed to dominate the student body during the '68-'69 school year. The EAGLE soared high as he carried athletic, scholastic, and music banners for H.H.S.

Beginning the year with a football season that carried our team to bi-district and ending it with the graduation of a senior class, one third of whom scored ninety or above scholastically, makes a memorable year. Add to that a sweepstakes band and an excellent record in Interscholastic League literary events, and we realize that it truly was a great year.

Those whose combined efforts helped to win the trophies pictured on this page should have a happy sense of accomplishment. However, this book is dedicated not only to them, but to all students who from day to day accepted the challenge of daily assignments. They, too, have accomplished, and it is they who have the greatest respect for a school and a country which provides them with so many opportunities.

May the winning spirit continue in Holliday High School!

Foreword

From Shakespeare we have learned that all the world is a stage and that each one must play his part. It is quite natural for students and teachers alike to feel that a school year is a separate world, and certainly the stage is set for many facets of learning.

We have tried, on the following pages, to show the characters and much of the action of the play that began August 28, 1968, and ended May 30, 1969.

These pages, we hope, support the firm belief in our community that a small school can indeed be an excellent place for students to act out their parts well and in so doing become better citizens of a much larger world.

FRESHMEN

Senior

Day

Senior Trip

Having left Holliday at midnight our groovy senior class pulled up at the Flagship in Galveston at mid-morning on May fifth. After checking in we visited the Sea Arama where we saw fish being fed in the huge aquarium and enjoyed the skillful antics of trained porpoises. Lunch and a quick change to swim suits prepared us for the beach, but the beach was not prepared for us. The waves came rolling in, leaving no sand for the would-be sun bathers, and the heavy cloud cover brought rain, but who cared about getting wet? The rugged ones jumped waves and tried their hand at surfing. At night we were entertained by two Galveston disc jockeys in the Squarerigger Room of the Flagship and later had a swim party with more people going in than the ones who really planned to?

Tuesday morning came too soon and plans for the beach, which remained much as it had been the preceding afternoon, were changed for a trip to Houston and tours of the San Jacinto Monument, the Battleship Texas, and the Astrodome. Returning to Galveston amid more moisture, we spent the afternoon leisurely and had a late dinner at Guido's, a swank sea food spot.

Wednesday morning found us loaded on the bus and counted off. With Tiger at the wheel, we headed for San Marcos and the Aquarena. Here, for the first time, the sun greeted us as we rode the glass-bottomed boats and saw the famed under-water show. It was a pleasant interlude, and a short drive took us to the K Bar Family Resort Ranch on Lake Travis in time for supper. Meals at the ranch left a little to be desired for hungry senior boys, but activities such as swimming, dancing to juke box music, volleyball, and shuffleboard kept everyone busy until lights-out at 11:30. Did anyone go to bed then? However, sleep did come.

Up again early Thursday morning, most of our group went on a galloping horseback ride and finished the day with the activities mentioned, plus fishing and - yes - sunbathing! A snack party in one of the boys' cabins late at night seems to be a well-remembered occasion.

Friday was filled with the same activities, but in addition, some went canoeing and skiing. Mr. Coe went swimming in full western attire, along with three senior boys - also in western attire. A class meeting on the bus produced a unanimous decision to switch plans from an early Saturday morning departure to a dramatic 12 00 P.M. Friday night leave, so Tiger brought us safely home in time for a Saturday night date.

The Holliday High School Eagle Band received its second Sweepstakes in a row this year in UIL competition. It was the only band in its class to receive this honor, and did so by receiving three ones in Marching, Concert, and Sightreading. The tape from the performance at Concert competition will also be entered in competition for 1969 Texas State Honor Band.

The Eagle Band was further honored by being the only band from this area that was invited to march in the Governor's inaugural parade. It also received the only "one" ever given in the history of the Notre Dame Band Festival.

Holliday is justified in being proud of such an outstanding group and its director, Mr. Buddy Richardson.

in '68

The 1968 Eagles enjoyed one of the finest football seasons in the history of Holliday, bringing the district crown to our school for the first time in twelve years.

They dominated the all-district team with seven all-district players and two who won honorable mention.

One of the seven all-district players, Gary Whitehead, was given honorable mention as an all-state tailback.

The spirit of the Eagles under the fine coaching of Jack Hawthorne and his assistants took them to bi-district where they lost by a one-touchdown margin to Aledo.

The future.

The future holds exciting and challenging opportunities. There will be many opportunities to contribute to technological development, and to help solve area and community problems in a way that will contribute to real community progress. The people of Texas Electric Service Company, as citizens of many cities and towns, are involved and committed to partnership with the communities served in building for a better future.
